FOR CONSIDERATION

If God can bring water from a rock to sustain men, He can also call down fire from heaven as a punishment. The fate of Sodom and Gomorrah presents a classic example of God's punishment of incorrigible sinners. That God can repeat this punishment in other places, He demonstrated over Constantinople in the time of Leo the Great and Patriarch Gennadius, in 472. On November 6th, at mid-day, the sky darkened by thick, dark clouds, which caused darkness to cover the land. These clouds glowed now and then like live coals, and then became dark again, and this phenomenon remained over Constantinople for a full forty days. The terrified people fell to repentance and prayer, and together with the Emperor and the Patriarch, went into procession through the streets from church to church, praying to God with tears and lamentations. On the final day, hot black ash began to fall from the clouds, and fell from noon to midnight, when it ceased. The following day was clear and fresh, but a hand-high layer of ash lay all over the ground. The people worked to clear their houses and streets of this sooty ash, but all their crops were destroyed. All who had understanding recognized God's punishment in this event –a gentle punishment because of the speedy repentance of the people before the Lord God. If this had not been so, who knows what would have happened in Constantinople in those days? But timely repentance on the part of sinners, and the prayers of the most Holy Theotokos together with the numberless saints and martyrs of Constantinople, greatly mitigated the punishment.

QUOTES FROM THE HOLY FATHERS

Someone may say that there are people who are not bothered by their conscience. Do they lack conscience? No. They have a conscience, but it has been debilitated. At one time it yelled and cried out, but man paid no attention. Her voice gradually weakened and was finally extinguished. This is why sometimes people commit unimaginable crimes, or even murder their own parents. When we hear such atrocities, we ask ourselves, what happened to this person? Did he become a beast? Yes, he turned into a beast because he strangles his conscience, and it no longer protests.

Elder Ephriam of Arizona

The Holy Fathers teach us that the one who forgives always wins. Whatever the occasion may be, if you forgive, you immediately cleanse your soul and become fit for paradise. If you have forgiven those who plotted to murder you, you have become equal to the martyrs. If you have forgiven an insult, you have gained peace and won the Kingdom of Heaven. If you have generously overlooked the rumors and slanders against you, you have dulled the sting of your foe. If you have returned a good for an evil, you have shamed your enemy. If you have swallowed a sarcastic insult to your honor, you have become worthy of heavenly honors.

St. Seraphim Aleksiev
