LIVES OF THE SAINTS

Be angry with yourselves, my brethren, and sin no more. Be angry at your sins of thought and deed, and sin no more. Be angry with Satan, the father of lies, and no longer do his will. Be angry at the sin in the world and at the fouling of God's holy Church by godless men, but be aware of healing sin by sin. Be angry with your friends when they sin, but let your anger be directed towards turning them back and not driving them into further evil. The anger of a friend towards a friend, of a parent towards his child and – dare I say it?? – of God towards men, is not a storm that roots up trees but a wind that makes the tree stronger, making the rotten fruit fall so that the good fruit may be even better and finer. Control your anger, that it may heal and not poison. To have this control, keep God before you in your anger. Anger can have no stronger dam or lock than God. All anger that is not in the name of God and his righteousness is sin. Do not be angry for nothing, but be angry at that at which God is angered. If your will is set firmly in God's Law, you will always be able to be angry when anger is needed, and to the measure to which it is needed. This cannot be spelled out in words and explained to the ignorant. Anger in its place acts as mercy does in its. It is a marvelous fact that the more a man learns to be angry with himself, the less he is angry with others, for knowing his own weakness, he either does not look at others or, if he sees them, judges them gently.

QUOTES FROM THE HOLY FATHERS

We faithful have a great weapon – this is the power of the Life-giving Cross. Think how terrifying it becomes for unbelievers; they are completely helpless. It is as if a person set out completely unarmed into the thick forest at night. Yes, the first beast he came across would tear him up, and he would have nothing to defend himself with. But we will not be afraid of demons! The power of the sign of the Cross and the name of Jesus is terrifying to the enemies of Christ and saves us from the evil nets of the demons.

St. Barsanuphius of Optina

When life is full of troubles, people get the feeling that the curse and anger of God has come upon them. But when these trials have passed, they'll see that God's wonderful providence protected them meticulously in all facets of their existence, Thousands of years of experience, transmitting from generation to generation, tells us that, when God sees faith in the soul of people who are striving for His sake, as He did in the case of Job, He leads them into the depths and heights that are inaccessible to others. The more complete and powerful people's love and trust in God are, the greater will be the measure of their trial and the fulness of their experience, which can reach very great heights.

St. Sophrony of Essex

The husband and wife should be like the hand and the eye. When the hand hurts, the eyes should be crying, and when the eyes cry, the hand should wipe away the tears.

St. John Chrysostom
